Permanent Mission of the Kingdom of Cambodia to the United Nations Office and other International Organizations at Geneva

Geneva, 30 December 2022

To Whom It May Concern,

It gives me a great pleasure to write this letter in favor of Mr. Timothé Michael Aebischer, who had dedicated his invaluable time and selfless efforts to work as a research and consular intern at the Permanent Mission of the Kingdom of Cambodia to the United Nations Office and other International Organizations at Geneva from 01 November to 30 December 2022.

During this unpaid two-month internship, Mr. Aebischer rendered an excellent research and secretariat support for Permanent Mission of Cambodia. He offered policy briefing and analysis on wide-ranging topics related to Switzerland's politics, economy, science, development and education with potential implications upon Cambodia. Other vital assignments included, among others, daily monitoring and documentation of human rights progress in Cambodia, aide-memoire preparation for my bilateral meetings with public and private Swiss institutions, note-taking and minutes writing, thematic compilation of human rights challenges in Western countries, and facilitation in consular and front desk affairs.

I note with satisfaction the quality of his submitted papers reflecting a good comprehension of the substance along with his capacity to plan, organize, present and assess them critically and analytically. Also, his independence, maturity, patience and communication skills with minimal supervision were well observed. My colleagues and I shared an assessment that Mr. Aebischer is helpful, diligent, professional, confident, humble and responsible along with a sense of humor. His adaptability and fast-learning nature will help him deal with new social, academic and working environment with no major difficulty.

In light of the said merits, I strongly recommend Mr. Timothé Michael Aebischer to any professional or academic institutions, and I am fully convinced that he will become a useful asset, who is readily willing to utilize the skills, experience and knowledge he had acquired for positive contribution to the entities selecting him.
